Jokes

An extremely elderly couple had been dating for over six years. The gentleman finally decided to ask his girlfriend to marry him.

She immediately accepted his proposal.

He went home happy. The next morning, however, he couldn't remember not only her answer, but also whether or not he had actually asked her. Very awkward indeed!

He drank almost an entire pot of coffee trying to remember, but it was no use, he would have to call her and ask her outright, as embarrassing as it would be.

"Oh, I am so glad you called," she exclaimed. "I remembered saying 'yes' to someone about something, but I couldn't remember to whom or about what!"

My old pal Gus is always trying to outdo me. Yesterday, I showed him the little plastic pill case with compartments I use for all my medications.

Today, he showed me the tackle box he uses for his.

Fun Fact of the Month

Over time, a surprising number of birds have lost their ability to fly. Being flightless has several advantages. For example, a flightless bird doesn't need to develop and carry large flight muscles or burn up the energy that flying requires. A flightless bird can also get by with less food, which means it can survive in places where food is scarce.

All of the birds in this month's calendar (except the birthday bird) are flightless!

Jane was born and raised in Oklahoma City, OK. She attended public school. She went to Lindenwood in St. Charles, Mo., then attended one year at the University of Missouri in Columbia, afterward back to the University of Oklahoma for the next two years. She married Roger Teigen and helped him while he attended the University of Oklahoma.

Together they had two girls, Pamela Jane and Patricia Ann (DeLong). Patricia lives here in New Orleans and has helped her move here and get settled with her new family here at Woldenberg.

Jane majored in Political Science and ran Frank Keating's campaign for governor of Oklahoma, scheduling trips and appearances throughout the state. This was no simple task since the majority of the populace was committed for years to one party. (It was an uphill battle, for sure.) Jane enjoys playing the piano which she brought along and has a new home in her villa.

Jane's "roommate" is a 10 year old miniature dachshund named Vienna. You can often see them strolling around the Villas property. Vienna is not too fond of all our cat residents. Jane is happy here at Woldenberg. She feels so comfortable with the staff and her fellow residents.
